Online continuing education has become a mainstay for practicing engineers in the US. Several state licensing boards even require their licensees to obtain some of their continuing education credits through live interactive online courses. In this seminar, we will provide a brief overview of the continuing education requirements for licensed professional engineers in the US, describe online platforms that can facilitate live interaction between the instructor and students, and discuss tips for creating and editing high quality audio and video content. In addition, we will describe some of the desktop and mobile applications that are useful to engineering educators.
